DEMOCRATS WIN.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 1.—Today's gubernatorial election passed off quietly. Returns up to midnight from twenty five of the seventy five counties in the state indicate that the victory of the Democratic ticket is complete. Only one county so far heard from is in doubt, Davis, Democrat, for governor, sweeping the other 24 counties by a large majority.

The Republicans had two nominees for governor in the field, Myers and Greenawald, and indications are that the latter is leading his opponent.

Kimball, the prohibition candidate, endorsed by the populists, received a very light vote.

The feature of the election is the extremely light vote which has been polled throughout the state.

Mrs. Rebecca Fast, of Barbourville, W. Va., died from the effects of eating twelve large cucumbers.

Over 100 men are overcome daily by the gas in the Beaumont oil fields and the situation is alarming.

Fifteen prisoners attempted to escape from the Jail at Bedford, Ind. Only two succeeded in getting away.

Mrs. Witmer, of Coffeyville, Kansas, is a grandmother at the age of 88.

HAND CAUGHT BY MR. BRYAN.

Cincinnati Enquirer: Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 2.—Service as peace-makers at a local park late yesterday afternoon brought W. J. Bryan and a party of union laboring men into close contact with a revolver and a large, ugly knife. By some quick shifts and nimble twists Bryan, with the aid of his party, succeeded in downing the drunken giant who threatened them, and, after disarming him, projected him outside the park. Mr. Bryan admitted to day that they had had trouble with a drunken man, who was testing a fallen foe, but he refused to discuss the subject.

It happened just after the delivery of Bryan's speech. In company with three members of the Central Labor Union, he was going to the gate and to town. When not far from the exit they came upon two drunken men.

They were settling differences with their fists in brutal pugilistic style. The heavier man was getting the better of it as the party below into view. He was on top of his foe and churning his head in a mud puddle, alternating with sounding thumps of his fist. For the sake of fair play, if not for peace, Mr. Bryan and his escorts wrenched the upper man away. He was a stranger, and a most unwelcome intruder into the grounds. Drawing back, he hailed a knife and revolver from his pocket.

While he was threatening death to his disturbers they sprang upon him. Mr. Bryan grasped him by one wrist before he could bring his weapon to bear, and Messrs. Hoskins and Burke and a bricklayer grasped his other arm.

The stranger was at least six feet tall, brawny and swarthy, with just enough liquor in him to enhance strength and fury. In the struggle that followed he proved a tough proposition. Mr. Bryan has not shaken hands for nothing the past six years. He had a grip that would not loosen, and he clung to the man's wrist until he had him overpowered.

The affair was not reported to the police, and no effort was made to arrest the brawler. A persistent attempt was made instead by the cooler leaders to hush the matter up, and the details did not leak out until today. The laboring men very much regret the incident.

MR. BRYAN'S PAPER.

How will Knox handle the axe-handle trust?

What Mr. Roosevelt seems to need is talkless cabinet officers.

The beef trust has said a word calculated to arouse the enmity of Mr. Knox.

A genuine democratic platform needs no diagram and explanatory foot notes.

Perhaps those Iowa Republicans meant tariff perversion instead of tariff revision.

The gentleman who imagines that Democracy needs reorganizing should consult an alienist.

The Republican leaders appear to be working several of the McKinley policies in the reverse motion.

The Republican campaign text book has been dry doctored for the purpose of repairing some of its plates.

It seems about time that the "infant" industries be stopped in their practice of assimilating the whole bill of fare.

The beef trust is so frightened by the presidential prospect that it is about to resolve itself into a still larger trust.

It is reported that Justice Shiras is soon to resign from the supreme bench and resume the practice of law. We trust that the eminent judge will not act towards his clients as he did towards the income tax. A lawyer cannot be on both sides of a case at one and the same time.

The attempt to republicanize the democratic party will be a failure so long as democrats stand on guard and do their duty.

Senator Hanna and President

both declare that they are friends of the working classes, but "pretty" is as pretty does.

When reading of the huge "net earnings" of the railroads remember that the farmers and merchants who pay the freight were caught in the net.

The Fairbanks presidential boom seems to have paused for the purpose of trying to ascertain who dropped the monkeywrench into its steering gear.

If a bunch of republican statesmen would vote to relieve labor of its burdens the aforesaid statesmen would not have to offer their services as arbitrators.

What evidence have we that the President regards a cabinet officer as a public trust? Answer: The President compels the holder of the office to defend the trusts.

The soulless trusts will not be satisfied until they learn how to utilize the energy that babies waste in playing about the floor and cooing in their mother's arms.

When a cabinet officer defends a trust he ought to state how much that particular trust contributed to the campaign fund. The mutuality of the transaction would then be understood.

The 10,000 employees let out by the formation of the hammer trust might probably employ their time for the next week or two recalling the siren song of the "let well enough alone" vocalists in 1900.

The officers of a labor union have been jailed for contempt of court because they refused to bring the union's books into court when ordered to do so. The meat trust officials refused to offer a similar order, but up to date no meat trust officials have been sent to jail.

Kingston Courier: A large Jersey peach, with a letter securely hid down within the stone, was discovered here among a lot of fine peaches sent in from Rocky Hill. The letter is of a decidedly interesting nature, and, being found in the peach given by Caterer J. B. Renwick to A. W. J. Montgomery, a Princeton student, some little romance may result, as the finder of the peaches has expressed his intention of trying to discover who the maiden is that wrote the letter. The letter reads as follows: "This peach grew on my father's farm at Little Rocky Hill. His name is Mr. Jod Hunt, and my name is Miss Caroline Hunt. My address is Kingston, N. J. Whoever finds this peach, please write to me and tell me how it tastes. I hope a nice looking man eats it, and I hope that he is single and that I may see him some day. August 20th, 1902."

BOB TAYLOR ON INTEREST.

"I sat in a great theater at the national capital. It was thronged with youth and beauty, old age and wisdom. I saw a man, the image of his God stand upon the stage and I heard him speak.

"His gestures were perfection of grace, his voice was music and his language was more beautiful than any I had ever heard from mortal lips.

"He painted picture after picture of the pleasures and joys and sympathies of home. He entrusted love and preached the gospel of humanity like an angel. Then I saw him dip his brush in the ink of moral blackness and blot out the beautiful pictures he had painted. I saw him stab love dead at his feet. I saw him blot the stars and the sun and leave humanity and the earth in eternal darkness and eternal death.

"I saw him like the serpent of old, worm himself into the paradise of human hearts and by his seductive eloquence and subtle devices, of sorcery inject his fatal venom, under whose blight, its flowers faded, its music was hushed, its sunshine was darkened and its soul was left a desert waste with the new made graves of faith and hope.

"I saw him, like a lawless and erratic meteor without an orbit, sweep across the intellectual sky, brilliant only in its self-consuming fire generated by friction with the indestructible and eternal truths of God.

"That man was the archangel of modern infidelity, and I said, how true is Holy Writ which declared, the fool has said in his heart, there is no God.

"Tell me not, oh, Infidel, there is no God, no heaven, no hell! Tell me not, oh, Infidel, there is no risen Christ.

"What intelligence less than God's could fashion in the human body? What motive power is it if not God, that drives these throbbing engines of the human heart, sending the crimson stream of life bounding through every vein and artery.

"Whence and what, if not of God, is that mystic we call mind? What is it that thinks and feels and knows and acts? Oh, who can deny the Divinity that stirs within us?

"God is everywhere and is everything. His mystery is in every bud and blossom and leaf and tree; in every rock and hill and vale and mountain, in every spring and rivulet and river.

"The rustle of his wing is in every zephyr; his might is in every tempest. He dwells in the dark pavilion of every storm cloud. The lightning is His messenger and thunder is His voice. His awful tread is in every earthquake and on every angry ocean. The Heavens above us teem with His myriads of shining witnesses. The universe of solar systems whose wheeling orbs course the crystal dread halls of eternity, the glory and power and dominion of the all wise, omnipotent and eternal God."

WHAT THE DOCTOR SAYS.

Onions are a preventative and oftentimes a cure for malarial fever.

Don't moisten your food with the idea of saving your teeth. It spoils the teeth and you will soon lose them.

Don't keep the sun out of your living and sleeping rooms. Sunlight is absolutely necessary for a right condition of the atmosphere that we breathe and for our bodily well-being.

It is a mistake to suppose that good candy will hurt children. If given to them just after meals and in reasonable quantities, it is a decided benefit. Children need sugar for heat and easily digested nourishment and pure candy is a convenient means of giving it to them. Dr. Fothergill, a distinguished London hospital surgeon, has said that molasses taffy, containing both sugar and grease, was a local preventative for children of a consumptive tendency.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For State Treasurer.

We are authorized to announce H. H. HENNINGER, Mayor, as a candidate for the office of State Treasurer, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

YOUNG MEN TO THE FRONT.

The able Editor of the Courier-Journal is now advocating the bringing to the front of the young men in politics. He offers as his reasons for this that the generation that grew up from 1800 to 1870, now being about forty years of age, in the active stage of political life, and many older ones, did not have the advantage of educational facilities as the generation of a later day; that they were naturally, in the South, embittered by the Carpet-bag rule of reconstruction days and consequently not so well fitted for Statesmanship as those who grew up since that devastating period. We believe in this teaching and believe such a policy would not only be good for the Democratic party of the South, but for the entire interest of the whole country. In the days of reconstruction, when the minds of Southerners were fired by imported rule, when facilities for education were shattered, when the whole South land was stained with blood, property destroyed, houses wrecked and a large part of her vigorous manhood crippled, it is not natural that that period would produce men of retreating spirit, men who would be guided largely by the issues of the past, rather than the burning questions of the present. The generation of a later day, as Mr. Waterson has well said, has had better advantages in education, has had less to warp their minds, and is therefore better prepared for dealing with the issues of the present and the shaping of the future. The young men of to-day are better qualified for successfully entering any kind of business than any preceding generation, and they are forging to the front under circumstances that seem almost unsurmountable.

TO DEMOCRATS.

In pursuance to the call of the Democratic Executive Committee of the Second Railroad Commissioners District of Kentucky the Democrats of Adair county are hereby notified to meet in mass convention in their respective voting precincts Saturday, September 27th at 2 o'clock P. M., and select a representative to the county convention to be held in the court-house on the 29th day of September at 2 P. M., for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the district convention to be held in Frankfort on the 1st day of Oct. 1902, to nominate a candidate for Railroad Commissioner.

N. M. TUTT, Ch'r. D. C. C.

A representative of this paper was in Louisville last week, and while there had talks with a number of Democratic politicians, who gave it as their opinion that there was not the slightest probability of the State Central Committee calling a primary to nominate candidates for State offices.

Pewee Valley, Oldham county, has been selected for the Confederate Home. Villa Ridge Inn was purchased at a price of $12,500. It is a magnificent piece of property and at this time there are seventy rooms furnished. All the furniture in the building was included in the sale.

Now that the primary election in Taylor county has been settled, let every Democrat go to work to elect the nominee. The election will be November 1902.

The Republican press and speakers were loud in their denunciation of the Democrats who stole the Populist's platform in 1896. Whether their charges were true or false is immaterial to us. It was a good platform, demanded the right things and condemned the wrongs and was, in the main, satisfactory to the Populists and especially was our nominee for they in turn nominated Mr. Bryan.

Now it seems that the Republicans will attempt to take the tariff-for-revenue plank out of the Democratic party to beautify and strengthen their platform in the next National contest and to this we object. The Republican party has been from its beginning a protective party while the Democracy has never demanded more revenue than the actual needs of the Government economically administered.

The Republican policy has been operative for more than thirty years and it has granted such favors as has built up the strongest combinations of capital in the entire world, so strong that they are controlling every article of commerce both raw and manufactured. The greed of the trusts is closing out small operators, extracting large profits from consumers and setting the price for labor. They have become so strong under the Protective policy that it is evident that the severest blow to be given in the interests of the people is a substantial reduction in the tariff—give them outside competition. This is a principle, a doctrine of the Democrats as old as the party itself, but the Republicans of Iowa seeing that the people are finding the true source, the main feeder of trusts and monopolies, have invaded our party platform and appropriated a plank favoring a reduction of the tariff on trust controlled articles, which is purely Democratic.

Republican papers are not condemning this theft but many are in full accord with it. The Democrats will still insist that a Protective Tariff is unjust and unwise and will prove it by present conditions.

The Democratic Congressional Committee of the Eleventh District, a call to meet in the city of Barboursville September 10th for the purpose of calling a convention to nominate a candidate for congress. The committee is composed of the Chairmen of the various counties composing the district and we trust that a full attendance and a thorough investigation will result from the meeting.

In the Democratic primary election, held in Taylor county last Saturday, to choose a Circuit Court Clerk, Mr. W. I. Meader, formerly of Columbia, defeated Mr. J. C. Durham by a majority of 81 voter.

FROM VIRGINIA.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 4.

Editor News: Enclosed please find $1.00 for the "News." Please have my address changed from Charleston, S. C., to Falls Church, Va. Uncle Sam has located me at Norfolk for the present but I desire the paper to be sent to the family at Falls Church, Va.

This is historic ground. From my office I can see the spot where the "Merimac" and the "Monitor" fought the fight that revolutionized naval warfare. Just over there is Fortress Monroe where Jefferson Davis languished for two years. The mouth of the historic James river is near here. My family and myself took the steamer, "Pohantas," at Richmond, Va. a few days ago and came down the James passing many fine old Manor houses on the banks, among others "Berkeley," the house "Tippicanoe," Harrison was born in and "Westover," within whose walls Lord Cornwallis stabled his horses during the Revolutionary war. We stopped at old Jamestown, founded by Capt. John Smith in 1607. Nothing is left but the brick tower of the first church built in the U. S. where Pocahontas was baptized. There it stands, half concealed by ivy overlooking the great silent river, a mute witness to the mutability of all things terrestrial.

At Richmond I was driven to the spot where the old theatre was burned nearly one hundred years ago, the Governor the State and many others losing their lives. My great-grand mother, Fannie Johnston, was there also but was not injured. Monumental church now stands on the site of the ill-fated theatre, where the happy meeting of the gay pleasure-seekers met with such a tragic ending. We visited beautiful Hollywood cemetery and visited the grave of the only President of the Southern Confederacy. His marble statue looks out over the James river and underneath rest the ashes of the storm tossed, unconstructed Jefferson Davis. Carved in the enduring marble is the following inscription: "Blessed are they that are persecuted for righteousness sake." May his restless spirit find the rest in the great Beyond that was denied him here. Peace to his ashes.

The public roads of Adair county are becoming in good condition, and in a few years Adair will be pretty well paved. The road machine was evidently a good investment. It does splendid work and does it rapidly. Good roads will build up a county faster than most anything else—save an electric line.

TRAGICAL ENDING.

Henry E. Christie, a Prominent Farmer of Green County,

Is Shot to Death by Dr. J. A. Booker, a Reputable Physician, who Resided in Same Neighborhood.

The Parties Met Upon the Highway, Hot Words followed, Ending in the Death of Christie.

THE AFFAIR IS SADLY DEPLORED.

Last Saturday at noon a telephone message announced to the citizens of Columbia that Dr. J. A. Booker, a prominent physician of Camp Knox, Green county, had shot and killed Henry E. Christie, a well known farmer and trader, who resided in the same locality. All the afternoon friends of the parties kept the wires busy, trying to learn the particulars, but no definite information could be gathered.

It was known that the parties had not been on friendly terms for some time, and it was generally concluded that upon meeting, the old score was opened, ending in the unfortunate death of Mr. Christie.

Mr. Christie was killed in three-quarters of a mile of his home, and Sunday forenoon a representative of the News, in company with Mr. E. G. Atkins, went to the scene of the tragedy and remained until after the deceased was buried. There were two hundred people upon the farm, and diligent inquiry was made for the particulars, but no definite information could be gathered.

We are able to make this statement: Mr. Christie was upon horse-back and was driving one of Christie's horses, and was going toward the store kept at Haskinsville; Dr. Booker was coming from the store. It seems the colored man was indebted to Booker, and a stop was made for a settlement, and it is said that it was adjusted, though nothing reliable is known. It has been noted that while the parties were conversing, reference was made to their old trouble and they both dismounted and Dr. Booker immediately began firing, with the result as above stated.

Mr. Christie was shot twice, once in the mouth and once on the right side of the head, just above the ear. He lived about fifteen minutes. Immediately after Christie fell, Dr. Booker found his horse and left for Greensburg, where he is now under arrest, awaiting an examining trial, which will be called this week.

During our stay at Camp Knox we made inquiry concerning the character of Mr. Christie and also of Dr. Booker, and all with whom we talked spoke of them in the highest terms. Mr. Christie was a kind and sympathetic neighbor, especially so was attentive to the sick and his larder was always open to the poor of the neighborhood. His death is regretted throughout Green and Adair counties and much sympathy is felt for his mother, brothers and sisters. The funeral and burial services, conducted by Eld. Z. T. Williams, took place at the late residence Sunday forenoon, two hundred relatives and friends being present. Mr. Christie was a son of the late Capt. C. C. Christie, who was unmarried. He was about 36 years old the 24th, of last August, and was unmarried.

Dr. Booker has been practicing medicine in the Camp Knox country for a number of years. His neighbors speak of him in the highest terms, and characterize him as a gentleman in every respect.

When the examining trial held the News will give to the public the decision of the Court.

MARRIED.

At Cave Valley, this county, Wednesday, September 3, 1902, Mr. Claud Callison, an industrious and worthy young man, was married to Miss Sallie Massey, an estimable daughter of Mr. Braxton Massey, an extensive farmer and merchant. The rites were solemnized by Eld. Z. T. Williams, and a large circle of friends attended the impressive ceremony. The groom is a graduate of Mr. James Callison and is popular with all his acquaintances.

There is not a better young lady in the county than the bride. The couple have been married over eight months and can be made over Adair county with ease in a foggy.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

The news will soon be five years old from the first issue down to the present we have extended every courtesy within our power to those who read it. We have not been annoying to those in arrears, but the time has come when we must expect many to settle their accounts. A large number of our subscribers are as good as the government and fully as prompt in payment as even better for they pay in advance, but many are indifferent or neglectful in settling their subscription. Our accounts are scattered over a large territory and no one owes us, but the hundreds of little bills are equivalent to a large sum. No business can successfully run unless its earnings are turned in as they accrue. Where is the farmer who would like to drub out his corn or other product and receive only "promises to pay" and in many instances not even a promise? No business can prosper, or grow, under such a method. It is the paying patrons who keep life in any business and those who fail to settle accounts are, in reality, sapling to its blood. The money we have shown our subscribers has proven a heavy load on us and has kept the News from making such improvements as we are capable of making, had the receipts the office been better. With more money we can do more business in every particular, and be of more worth to this town and country. It is our desire to make many improvements in the paper, such as will be of worth to all who read it, but to do this we must have money. It is a matter that should not disturb those in arrears, as to what we could or would make of any amount of money, for it is the duty of every one to pay for his paper. It is immaterial whether we desire to enlarge our plant and increase our facilities for usefulness or whether we put it under tight purse strings. If you have received the paper you should settle for it and we ask this as your earliest opportunity. Just as soon as we can, statements will be mailed to every subscriber showing his account in full whether he is indebted to us or whether we are to him. We ask you to make payment at once for the use of the money. We expect it.

W. G. CONOVER DEAL.

Last Thursday night Mr. W. G. Conover, who lived near Mt. Pleasant Church, died after being in a helpless condition for nearly two years. He was about 75 years old and was well known over the county. About two years ago in returning from Columbia to his home he met with a stroke of paralysis, rendering him helpless until his death. The deceased was a brother-in-law of Judge J. W. Butler and was related to all the Williams in the county. He was a member of the Christian Church and had been for a number of years. He was a kind and affectionate husband and was perfectly devoted to his children. He will be greatly missed in the neighborhood where he resided for more than fifty years. The funeral services were held by Eld. Z. T. Williams, were held Friday afternoon, a large circle of relatives and friends being present. To the widow and surviving children, we tender our sympathy.

The city cemetery needs cleaning off. This should be done before Conference convenes, as present conditions do not indicate that Columbia is a good town to be buried in. The latest city of the dead where hundreds of bodies have been laid to rest, and yet books, briars and obnoxious vines are permitted to give it the wilderness appearance. The committee heretofore in charge of this work should look after this at once. If there is need of money to do the work then take such steps as will bring it. We believe it the duty of the town council to make such an appropriation annually as will keep the cemetery neat and clean—in brief the cemetery and the entire town. Don't allow such a condition to face so many visitors to our town as will be here to the Conference.

The following young ladies and gentlemen met at Jamestown one day last week, desiring to increase their wealth, resolved to visit Cumberland river and spend a day pearl hunting: Miss Haidie Rowe, Mr. John Carter, Miss Beatrice Webb, Dr. J. S. Rowe, Mrs. Margaret Jones, Mr. Lillura Phelps, Miss Ethel Patterson, Mr. J. W. Johnston. Their destination was a mouth of Greasy Creek, and after an unsuccessful hunt for valuable pearls they partook of an elegant supper and returned to their respective homes, perfectly delighted with the day's outing.

RAILROAD NEWS ITEMS.

R. C. Rabank said it could go down the river provided it did not hit his piano. Now comes Mr. Rabank, of Taylor county, and says he gives his consent freely for it to go across the middle of his river bottom farm, but he stipulates that it must not hit his ash hopper.

Only one farmer or land owner on the way has refused to grant the right of way, as we understand, and that one was not very firm in his refusal. It is hoped that, after a little further consideration he will consent.

Cheerfully as the Adair county farmers have been in giving the way, the Taylor county people have been equally generous. Good will for the enterprise is everywhere heartily shown.

Messrs. William Russell and William Biggs hunted up Prof. Abell, to tell him they would grant him a free pass from Kellyville to Green River. Falkner & Sons, James Griffin and James Page, of Tumbolt and vicinity, offered all that is wanted, if the road will change its mind and go their way.

Mr. Kurr, of Taylor, says he usually makes an effort to escape agents of all sorts, but ends up with buying their wares and giving them what they want. He has never kept out anything that was good for the country.

Judge W. W. Jones, of the Circuit Court, and some other influential gentlemen, advocate the Southern Road. Much that is sensible can be said of that route. The promoter of the Interurban road has signified his willingness to consider the proposition to go to Junction City, or the nearest or most convenient point on the Kentucky or Crescent, but he strongly favors the usual route of trade which is the shorter, and which will continue to take our goods to the best Kentucky market, the city of Louisville instead of Cincinnati.

The school, conducted by Miss Lena Powell, is progressing nicely.

The Liberty Brand Hat is sold by Mr. Jake Redford who travels for Messrs. Weinstein & Co., wholesale dealers, Louisville. It is a tippy hat and pleases the merchants generally.

Mr. Redford is a popular salesman, very much of a gentleman and has built up a fine trade for his house through this section. As soon as the busy season is over he will visit the merchants of Adair county. The "Liberty Brand" is published elsewhere in this paper.

The people generally of Adair county feel sure that an electric line from Columbia to Campbellville will be built, and that every thing will be in readiness to begin work by the first of next year. The route selected reaches Campbellville in 17 miles.

Special balliff Columbia arrested Jo Smith, of Big Windy, Saturday, charged with selling liquor. He was given a hearing before Commissioner Wintry and held over.

Four new students entered the M. & F. High School yesterday. Messrs. H. K. Walpus, Red Lick, Maggie Walker, Nell, Bertha Hamilton, Nell, Kate Walker, Gradyville.

Mrs. J. H. Young has been on the sick list several days.

Mrs. Maggie Wade visited her father, J. B. Russell, last week.

WHICH ARE YOU?
Ella Wheeler Wilton in New York Journal.
There are two kinds of people on earth today.
Just two kind of people, no more.
I say.
Not the sinner and saint, for 'tis well understood.
The good are half bad and the bad half good.
Not the rich and the poor, for to count a man's wealth
You must first know the state of his conscience and health.
Not the humble and proud, for in life's little spots
Who puts on vain airs is not counted a man.
Not the happy and sad, for the swift-flying years
Bring each man his laughter and each man his tears.
No: the two kind of people on earth I mean.
Are the people who lift and the people who lean.
Wherever you go you will find the world's masses
Are always divided in just these two classes.
And, oddly enough, you will find, too, I ween,
There is only one lifter to twenty who lean.
In which class are you? Are you easing the load
Of overtaxed lifters who toll down the road?
Or are you a leaner, who lets others bear
Your portion of labor and worry and care?

NEXT MORNING PHILOSOPHER.
The man who indulges in nightcaps is also addicted to eye-openers.
When the average politician retires it is with a view to promotion.
When a man confesses that he is a statesman you are not bound to take his unsupported word.
It has been said that the fewer bracers the night before the fewer will be required the next morning.

MEASURING WEATHER.
Many boys and girls—and grown people, too, for that matter—do not understand exactly what is meant by the terms "high barometer" and "low barometer." They do know, in a general way, that a high barometer indicates fair weather, and a low barometer stormy weather, so that they might be better to say that they do not understand the reason for those indications. The whole matter may be made plain in a few words.
The barometer is, as its Greek name indicates, a weight measure, but it is used only to measure the weight of the atmosphere. It is, perhaps, the most important instrument employed in meteorology, and is of the greatest possible value to sailors, because it indicates with unfailing accuracy the approach of a storm. How it does this we have to explain.
Most of our young readers have seen one, no doubt, and will remember that it consists of a glass tube to which is attached a graduated scale. Inside the tube is a small column of mercury which rises from a cup of mercury at the bottom of the tube, and the figures on the scale represent its varying height.
Now, it is easy to understand that as the mercury in the tube is connected with the mercury in the cup it will rise or fall in the tube as the pressure on the cup is increased or diminished. But the only pressure on the cup is the weight of the atmosphere. If, therefore, the atmosphere is relatively heavy the mercury will rise in the tube; if it be relatively light the mercury will fall in the tube.
Thus we learn two things by means of the barometer—first, that dry air is heavier than damp air, because the mercury rises in the tube when the dry air is increased or diminished. Second, that when the mercury falls in the tube stormy weather may be expected, because the air is damp and light.
It would be well for you to remember this difference between dry air and damp air, for many persons have the mistaken notion that damp air is heavy.—D. B. Wagener.

USEFUL HINTS.
In certain households parsley is always served with vinegar and salt after onions. It is supposed to remove all odor from the breath.
Green or red peppers make attractive garnishes for salads. Remove a thin slice from the top of each and take out the seeds and white pulp. To make the cups stand it may be necessary to cut slices from the bottom also.
Where a glass or two of a cooling fruit drink is desired every day it is a good plan to prepare the base of such a drink in a larger quantity than is needed for a single serving. A good foundation syrup is made from the juice of two lemons, one orange, a half pineapple mixed with half a cupful of sugar. This may be put in a preserve jar and will last a week.

Housekeepers do not use charcoal enough about their kitchens. A few pieces of charcoal laid in the refrigerator absorb impurities in the air. A bag of powdered tied around the mouth of the faucet removes impurities in the water as it passes through it. Charcoal used in this way soon becomes foul, and should be frequently replaced by a fresh supply. It is best to burn charcoal that has been used as a germ trap.
A trained nurse prepares chopped beefsteak for her patients in a way that makes the food extremely easy way of digestion. The meat from a pound of round or sirloin steaks is carefully freed of fat, and cut in rather small pieces to go into the meat chopper. After a few minutes of chopping the fine pulp which rises from the meat during the operation of chopping is removed and put aside; continue to chop and to remove the pulp until only the fiber of the meat remains. This pulp is pressed into a round, fat cake, and broiled over a very hot fire on each side for about five minutes; it is then seasoned lightly with salt, a dash of cayenne, a little butter and served very hot. If preferred this pulp may be served almost entirely uncooked. In that case the pulp should be seasoned before it is formed into a cake.
